

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF IOWA
EASTERN DIVISION

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Plaintiff,

vs.

BRANDON JAMES SEYS,

Defendant.

Case No. 19-cr-1004-CJW

ORDER CONTINUING TRIAL

Before the Court is Defendant's Unresisted Motion to Continue Trial and Deadlines, filed on April 5, 2019. (Doc. 11). Trial is currently scheduled for April 29, 2019. The government does not resist this motion.

"District courts are afforded broad discretion when ruling on requests for continuances, but [c]ontinuances generally are not favored and should be granted only when the party requesting one has shown a compelling reason." United States v. Jirak, 728 F.3d 806, 815 (8th Cir. 2013) (quoting United States v. Cotroneo, 89 F.3d 510, 514 (8th Cir. 1996)) (internal quotes omitted). "In determining whether to grant a continuance, the trial judge must balance the asserted need for the continuance against the hardship of the resulting delay, and should also consider the complexity of the case, the diligence of the party requesting a continuance, and the conduct of the opposing party." United States v. Farlee, 757 F.3d 810, 821 (8th Cir. 2014), cert. denied, 135 S. Ct. 504 (2014) (citing United States v. Coronel-Quintana, 752 F.2d 1284, 1287-88 (8th Cir. 1985)). When balancing the foregoing factors, the court may also consider: "whether a delay will seriously disadvantage either party," potential prejudice to the defendant, and how the continuance weighs against the defendant's interest in a speedy trial. See Speedy Trial Act of 1974, 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(1)-(7) (2016) (stating when a continuance is “excludable” from the time allotted for a Speedy Trial); see also United States v. Moe, 536 F.3d 825, 831 (8th Cir. 2008); United States v. Roberts, 787 F.3d 1204, 1212 (8th Cir. 2015); United States v. Dunn, 723 F.3d 919, 928 (8th Cir. 2013). “Because this balancing requires familiarity with the parties and particular circumstances of the case, the trial court retains broad discretion to grant a continuance.” Farlee, 757 F.3d 810 at 821 (citing Morris v. Slappy, 461 U.S. 1, 11, (1983)).

In the instant case, the court finds the reasons advanced by the defendant for the continuance serve the ends of justice and outweigh the interests of the public and the defendant’s right to a speedy trial. See 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(7)(A). Accordingly, for good cause shown, the motion to continue trial is granted. The trial of this cause scheduled for April 29, 2019, is hereby continued to commence during the two-week period beginning on July 29, 2019.¹ The non-trial related motions deadline is not continued. Further, for the reasons set forth above, the time from the date of the motion to the time of trial is excluded for purposes of the Speedy Trial Act. Id.

¹ The time frames and plea hearing deadline requirements established in the trial management order at Doc. 5 continue to govern this case, but now with the new trial date scheduled to commence during the two-week period beginning July 29, 2019, substituted, the time frames now attach to the new trial date scheduled.

The status conference before the undersigned is set for Thursday, June 27, 2019, at 12:00 p.m.; United States Courthouse, Courtroom 4, 111 7th Avenue SE, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

IT IS SO ORDERED this 5th day of April, 2019.
